

Radio Mission Fellowship in Nome: Spots Open for 2018-2019!

KNOM Radio Mission is still accepting applications for its 2018-2019 volunteer fellowship! We encourage all those interested to submit finished applications by June 1, 2018. Visit <https://go.knom.org/KNOMVol2018-ABA> .

At an AM/FM radio station in rural Nome, Alaska — the oldest Catholic radio station in the United States! — KNOM volunteer fellows serve on the front lines of daily operations. Uncover inspirational stories and report on cultural events and breaking news throughout Western Alaska. Provide live coverage for the finish of the Iditarod Trail Sled Dog Race. Gain invaluable experience in broadcasting: write and produce inspirational features, report on local and regional news and events, deejay, learn to support and maintain a web presence, and other duties as assigned.

Fellows are provided with room, board, personal stipends, and other benefits, and commit to 54-week service terms.

KNOM seeks mission-minded college graduates who are committed to serving others and who thrive in a small community. Prior broadcasting experience is not necessary. We welcome a variety of degrees.

Visit <https://go.knom.org/KNOMVol2018-ABA> for more information and to apply.

Email questions to Margaret A. DeMaioribus at margaret.demaioribus@knom.org.