

Juneau Radio Center is seeking a talented and experienced journalist to lead the award-winning News of the North team as News Director in Alaska's Capital City.

Duties include, but are not limited to, gathering and reporting news and public affairs programming for all Alaska properties owned and/or operated by Frontier Media USA, LLC and its affiliates. This includes running a 24-hour news cycle. As News Director, you will lead the team of reporters, both part and full time, to continually update broadcast segments for all our brands, as well as Juneau Daily News Online and Social Media.

You are responsible to make sure that the newsroom is staffed and all bulletins air and are prepared in accordance with company policy.

The public affairs program "Action Line" is also under the purview of the News Department and under your control as News Director. This program can be hosted by the News Director or a host of the News Director's choosing. At this time, scheduling of guests for Action Line is done in co-ordination with former and interim News Director, Pete Carran.

Public affairs programs are also conducted by our stations in Ketchikan and Sitka, working with station managers to create a flow of appropriate story and interview content is expected.

As News Director, you will attend local meetings and press calls, and ensure that the other news staff attend where appropriate to gather news stories. Direct the activities of the news staff to develop story ideas, track issues and events, select reporters for coverage, schedule stories for publication, and schedule time for interviewing, writing and editing. Serve as a primary editor to ensure news reports are produced in an effective, timely and responsible manner.

Act as a proactive liaison to various internal and external constituencies to advance the station's news programming. Seek opportunities to promote public contact to help ascertain public needs, build community engagement and bolster station success.

If you have a nose for news, are self-motivated and consider yourself a leader, send your resume to General Manager, Cherie Curry at cherie.curry@frontiermediausa.com

Frontier Media, LLC is an EOE employer.
